

The sustainable investor for a changing world

Circular Economy – Paving the Way for a More Sustainable Future

Guido Stucchi

Client Portfolio Manager ETF & Index Solutions

As the global population is expected to reach almost 10 billion by 2050, the finite nature of Earth's resources becomes evident. Accordingly, raw material costs and consumption will continue to increase. Circular economy business opportunities offer a solution by optimizing resource use. In this model, products and materials circulate in a high-value state through extended supply chains, for as long as possible. Explore how an ETF can be a gateway to participating in this innovative approach to production and consumption, navigating the evolving landscape of sustainable investments.

Guido Stucchi has been Head of ETF & Index Product Development and Portfolio Management at BNP Paribas Asset Management since November 2017. He joined the company as Head of ETF Portfolio Management in April 2007. Before joining BNP Paribas Asset Management, Guido was Head of Quantitative Equity Management at BNL Gestioni SGR between 1999 and 2007. Prior to this between 1997 and 1999, he held senior roles within the US Equity Management Department at IMI Fideuram Asset Management in Milan. Guido holds a degree in Economics from Bocconi University in Milan (1994) and is a CFA charterholder (2006). Guido is based in Paris.

